

GOOD NEIGHBORS

BAD NEIGHBORS

HOW WAR AND CONFLICT CHANGE US

Sunday, May 5 at 3PM

Free Panel Discussion, Reception & Book Sale

Frick Fine Arts Building - Schenley Drive - Pittsburgh 15213

RSVP REQUESTED: <https://picttheatre.secure.force.com/ticket/>

A continuation of the conversation begun by PICT Theatre's production of Tadeusz Slobodzianek's play Our Class, and featuring noted Princeton historian Dr. Jan T. Gross, whose book Neighbors inspired the play. How does war change the relationships between neighbors? What impact do political or religious beliefs, or racial and economic differences have on people's individual and collective behavior towards their neighbors. Why do some people behave heroically towards their neighbors while others give in to their baser natures? Join us for a compelling discussion.

Haven't seen the play? Our Class runs through May 4th

Use code PANEL55 for Buy-One-Get-One-Free tickets at picttheatre.org or call 412-561-6000

Moderated by Daniel H. Simpson, former U.S. Ambassador & Post-Gazette Columnist

Simpson

Gross

Novosel

Panelists:

Jan T. Gross

Professor of History, Princeton University
Author of Neighbors

Anthony Novosel

Lecturer, History Dept., Univ. of Pittsburgh
Author, Northern Ireland's Lost Opportunity: The Frustrated Promise of Political Loyalism

Edward Orehek

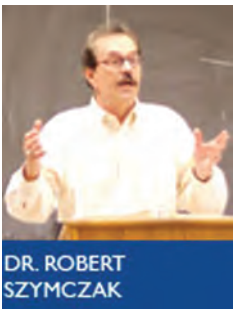

Asst. Professor of Psychology, Univ. of Pittsburgh

Robert Szymczak

Professor of History, Penn State University

Gregor Thum

Asst. Professor of History, Univ. of Pittsburgh
Author, Uprooted: How Breslau Became Wrocław During the Century of Expulsions

Szymczak

Orehek

Thum

Sponsored by PICT Theatre • Polish Cultural Council • Classrooms Without Borders • and the following University of Pittsburgh Stakeholders: Center for Russian & East European Studies • Jewish Studies Program European Union Center of Excellence/European Studies Center • Global Studies • Univ. of Pittsburgh Book Center